Jura, vineyards with a lot of character!

A wine-growing region as dynamic as it is unique, the Jura vineyards are surprising, appealing and endearing... read on to find out why!

A prestigious history and a rich heritage

Held in high regard since the Middle Ages, and welcomed to the tables of kings and popes alike, the Jura vineyards know how to hold their own. Now ubiquitous on Michelin-starred tables in France and around the world, it has become an integral part of the culinary repertoire of many chefs. The most emblematic of all the Jura wines? The prestigious Vin Jaune de Château-Chalon. This 'yellow gold', matured under a "veil" of yeast, waits 6 years and 3 months in the cellar before being bottled in a 'clavelin' (62 cl). An exceptional wine for laying down, considered to be one of the greatest in the world.

A unique variety of wines

With 7 AOCs and 5 grape varieties, such a diversity of wines from such a small vineyard area (80 km long) is unique in France! Jura wines are so varied that sommeliers are able to offer a meal made up exclusively of Jura wine pairings. From light to deep reds, from white to Vin de Paille, from Vin Jaune to Crémant, each wine can accompany a dish, from starter through to dessert.

A vineyard on a human scale

In the Jura, small family-run vineyards operate alongside a few larger estates: an original characteristic of the region compared to the majority of the French wine sector. Just like the people of the Jura as a whole, the producers are passionate about their trade and enjoy close relationship with their customers. They are approachable and delighted to have the opportunity to talk about their work and their wines. They are just like winegrowers with the Vignobles & Découvertes label, who are committed to welcoming you and sharing their love of the Jura and its wines.

Remarkable landscapes and a unique geology

The Jura vineyards boast a wealth of soils, sub-soils and landscapes, creating the impression of a marquetry of vines. The Revermont, a generally west-facing area extending from Cou-sance to Mouchard between the plain and the mountains, is the main strip of land where vines grow. Hills, hillocks, slopes and faults follow one another to form a kind of wine-growing chess-board, generating the right conditions for vintages with distinctive characteristics.

A collective spirit

Inspired by the Comté cheese dairy model (known regionally as fruitière), the winegrowers in the Jura have based their development on a cooperative model. Similarly, the creation of mutual funds, enabling winegrowers to borrow without going through traditional banks, has enabled them to modernise and develop their production further. Today, this collective spirit is reflected in major popular events such as the Percée du Vin Jaune, the Pressée du Vin de Paille and the Nez dans le Vert.

Strong values

Organic cultivation in the Jura is one of the most extensive in France compared to its production area. It represents 30% of the wine-growing area. The Jura organic winegrowers fair in the Jura, Le Nez dans le Vert has been held every spring for over 10 years, bringing together around fifty winegrowers. The vast majority of Jura winegrowers follow practices that respect the environment and many of them have a label guaranteeing their commitment (Terra Vitis, HVE, AB, Demeter, Bodyvin, AVN, Ecocert...). Some winegrowers produce “natural” or sulphur-free wines.

7 INCOMPARABLE & UNIQUE WINES

Jura wines have a wide range of aromas and tastes, and are made from five grape varieties: Chardonnay, Savagnin, Poulsard - or Ploussard, Trousseau and Pinot noir. These grape varieties express themselves in infinitely nuanced ways depending on the morphology of the relief, the micro-climate of the terroir in which they are grown and the subtle combinations that can be created by blending them.

Vin Jaune 62 cl of liquid gold

Its name comes from its intense golden yellow colour. Le Vin Jaune is considered to be one of the greatest white wines in the world. It is said to be appreciated first with the eyes, but the rest is just as spectacular: it only reveals its exceptional aromatic qualities after a long and mysterious metamorphosis.

IN THE MOUTH: Powerful, rich and complex attack, followed by a demonstration of the aromas that are extraordinarily full-bodied on the palate: fresh walnuts, green apples, dried fruit, curry, saffron, ginger.

GRAPE VARIETIES: Savagnin exclusively.

Sensational Crémant

In the Jura, it's the first cork that pops when there's something to celebrate. The result of a long tradition of sparkling wine production, it requires a lot of attention during its production, whether it be white or rosé.

IN THE MOUTH: Straightforward, festive attack thanks to the fine bubbles that delight the palate. Floral notes of hawthorn, honeysuckle and lime blossom, aromas of toast and white-fleshed fruit.

AOC/AOP DESIGNATIONS: Crémant de Jura.

Intense Whites

The personality of Jura white wines makes them unforgettable. Whether single varietal or blended, they stand out with an impressive diversity of aromas. Whether “floral” or “tradition”, depending on the method used to mature them, they definitely make a mark and delicately enhance dishes from here and elsewhere.

GRAPE VARIETIES: Chardonnay and Savagnin.

AOC/AOP DESIGNATIONS: Arbois, Côtes du Jura, L'Étoile.

Voluptuous and sweet Vin de paille

Vin de Paille is made from the finest grapes grown in the Jura vineyards, using a traditional technique handed down from generation to generation. This is a naturally sweet, syrupy wine. Its exotic aromas are the fruit of each winegrower's own blend.

IN THE MOUTH: Beautiful harmony between sugar and acidity, between lightness and density.

GRAPE VARIETIES: Chardonnay, Poulsard, Savagnin and Trousseau.

AOC/AOP DESIGNATIONS: Arbois, Côtes du Jura, L'Étoile.

An elixir called Marc

Marc du Jura is an amber eau-de-vie, or brandy. An essential component of the famous Macvin du Jura, powerful and fragrant, it's a delight at the end of a meal.

IN THE MOUTH: Powerful, persistent attack, with notes of roasted vanilla, spice and pepper.

AOC/AOP DESIGNATIONS: Marc du Jura.

Unknown Reds

Dazzling, delicious, delicate, surprising... Still little known to the general public, the red wines of the Jura have more than one trick up their sleeve, and plenty to delight curious palates. From aperitif to dessert, they are generous, graceful, full-bodied and delicate.

GRAPE VARIETIES: Pinot noir, Poulsard and Trousseau

AOC/AOP DESIGNATIONS: Arbois, Côtes du Jura.

Ancestral Macvin

In the large family of French liqueur wines, or mistelles, Macvin is the only one made from grape eau-de-vie, and not from wine. A centuries-old production process produces a rich, subtle and velvety white, red or rosé wine.

IN THE MOUTH: Fruity, rich, surprising and complex, with notes of sultanas, caramel, honey, spices, sometimes cherries and blackberries.

STRONG PERSONALITIES!

Whether they came from the Jura or not, these personalities have left their mark on the history of the Jura vineyards.

Louis Pasteur Father of oenology (1822-1895)

The inventor of the rabies vaccine was born in Dole and lived in Arbois for some of his life. Considered to be the father of oenology, Louis Pasteur's work on wines was a decisive step in the development of his thinking, and he was able to shed light on the mystery of fermentation thanks to the support he received from the wine-growers of Arbois. His birthplace in Dole and his family home in Arbois are key to understanding the birth of the science of wine.

Charles Rouget Ampelographer (1828-1899)

Born in Salins, Charles Rouget was a winegrower with a passion for botany and studied vine phenomena from an early age. In 1897, he wrote a compendium of ampelography, Les vignobles du Jura et de la Franche-Comté, in which he presented the forty Jura grape varieties in use at the time, together with a historical study of these varieties. It reveals that identical grape varieties can have different names depending on where they are grown.

Curnonsky The Prince of Château-Chalon (1872-1956)

Curnonsky, whose real name was Maurice Edmond Sailland, was one of France's most famous gastronomes. He was crowned "prince of gastro nomes" in 1927. Cuisine et vins de France, his 856-page monument to gastronomy, was published in 1953 by Larousse. Drawing on his extensive experience as a gourmet, he declared 5 crus to be the best white wines in the world: Château Grillet, Château d'Yquem, Montrachet, Coulée de Serrant and... Château-Chalon! The Curnonsky five are still a myth for all oenophiles.

Henri Maire The Patriarch (1917-2003)

The son of a long line of Jura winegrowers (since 1632), Henri Maire was one of those who brought the Jura vineyards out of their long lethargy following the destruction of the vineyards by phylloxera. Shortly after Arbois became the 1st AOC in France in May 1936, he took over the small family vineyard and spent the rest of his life promoting this heritage. A pioneer in wine tourism, in 1961 he created La Finette - Tavernes d'Arbois to enable visitors to discover the local gastronomy and its perfect pairing with Jura wines.

Michel Campy The geologist

The son of Lavigny winegrowers and himself an amateur winegrower in Marnoz, Michel Campy is THE specialist in the geology of the Jura vineyards. A qualified natural scientist, he is the author of hundreds of scientific publications and books, including Terroirs viticoles du Jura (Editions MétaJura), considered to be a Bible on the subject. He has also co-edited La Parole de Pierre, a book of interviews with... Pierre Overnoy.

Pierre Overnoy The oracle

Born in 1937, Pierre Overnoy is the historic pioneer of 'natural wine' in France. As early as the 1950s, he considered the first herbicides to be harmful to the environment, whereas many considered them to be a technological breakthrough. He often refers to the biologist and oenologist Jules Chauvet, who was the first to replace chemistry with physics. In 2001, Pierre passed on his estate to Emmanuel Houillon-Overnoy, his adopted son.

Philippe Troussard The MOF

Philippe Troussard has been Meilleur Ouvrier de France (MOF) in Sommellerie since 2015. A Jura native from Arbois, wine is his life and for him, life is wine, from a Dionysian perspective, in other words, with a sense of enthusiasm and inspiration. He works at the family-run Les Caudalies (Arbois), where his area of expertise is the wine cellar, of course..

Bernard Badoz The father of the Percée

The Badoz family has lived in Poligny since 1659 and has always been committed to respecting the traditions of the Jura region. Since 1970 Bernard has been working on a rigorous selection process aimed at producing wines with character. In 1996, he created the Percée du Vin Jaune with Jean-Louis Lemarchal, director of the newspaper Le Progrès, and a merry band of motivated Jura winegrowers.

Louis Pasteur, the father of modern oenology and inventor of the rabies vaccine, returned to Arbois throughout his life. He liked staying in Arbois with his family and friends, including winegrowers. His house has been preserved intact. From his billiard table to his personal laboratory, where he conducted experiments on wine fermentation, you'll be able to enter the scientist's private world.

 For groups, a wine tour tells the story of Pasteur's work on wine and the life of winegrowers at the time. The tour ends with a tasting of four wines in the cellar of the Fruitière Viticole d'Arbois.

The first evidence of this site overlooking Salins-les-Bains dates back to the Celts. During the Middle Ages, the site came under the banner of the Dukes of Burgundy, who marked it with one of their emblems, the cross of Saint-André. It was rebuilt in 1674 by Vauban. Since then, it has been used for a variety of purposes, but was taken over in 2005 and is now open to the general public.

 The guided tours are really interesting and very... tasty! They end with a tasting of cheeses, cured meats and wines produced especially for the Fort.

The Grande Saline is where the Franche-Comté salt epic began: capturing white gold from the depths of the earth for 1,200 years, the Grande Saline is one of the oldest igneous salt production sites. Listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site, its location in the heart of Salins-les-Bains explains its inextricable link with the history of the town and the entire region. The medieval underground gallery, vaulted with majestic stone arches over a length of 165 metres, preserves the memory of this thousand-year-old history and features a 16th century wheel and pendulum that are still in operation. You can feel the emotion in the evaporation building, where France's last remaining salt open-pan, tools and salt trolleys have been preserved, bearing witness to the labour of the salt workers. You don't simply visit la Grande Saline, you listen, share and experience the history of a living heritage that is unique in Europe.

Road Trips

*During your stay in the Jura vineyards, there are 5 sectors that you should definitely visit:
Arbois, Poligny, Château-Chalon, L'Étoile and Sud-Revermont.*

Their gourmet treasures are on a par with their rich heritage, so here are a few suggestions for road trips, without forgetting to pack a healthy appetite and your sense of curiosity in your bag!

A DAY exploring Passenans

This day will take you on a tour of the charming village of Passenans, clinging to the foothills of the Premier Plateau. Its fountains, look-out point and small rivers make for a pleasant walk in the countryside. Above all, it's an opportunity to discover one of the finest winegrowing areas in the Jura, formed over 200 million years ago by a succession of layers of marly soil known as the Triassic.

At the end of this oenocultural discovery, a visit to the Maison du Comté, in Poligny, will complete your day with a superb immersive journey through the land of Comté, with something for everyone in the family to enjoy. Right up to the final stage of the adventure: tasting the Comté.

To plan your visit:

→ Download the Passenans walk here:

A DAY in Arbois

Arbois, the wine capital of the Jura, was awarded France's first AOC in 1936, crowning an age-old wine-making tradition. It's a city where the art of living takes on its full meaning, a place to linger and enjoy the gentle pace of life. It is also the home of Louis Pasteur, considered to be the father of oenology. A very easy walk takes you along trail through the vineyards to discover the Les Corvées and Curon terroirs. These steep hillsides with their excellent wines demonstrate the essence of the Arbois terroir: perfect sunshine and altitude, stony soils on deep grey marl, below a limestone ledge.

To plan your visit:

→ Download the Arbois walk here:

*Alcohol abuse is dangerous for your health. Your health and other people's if you're driving.
Don't drink wine if you have to drive afterwards.*

2 DAYS between Lons-le-Saunier and Sud-Revermont

Lons-le-Saunier is the administrative centre of the Jura and also an old wine-growing town, even if it no longer has any estates (it was decimated by phylloxera and then by the labour shortage caused by the First World War). So it's a good idea to leave the town and explore the local wine-producing villages of L'Étoile and Montaigu.

Sud-Revermont has always been a wine-growing area, with traditional villages such as Gevingey, Cesancey, Saint Laurent-la-Roche, Beaufort, Maynal and Saint-Amour, which are appreciated for the beauty of their heritage and southern influences.

2 days and one night are needed to enjoy all its special features at your leisure!

To plan your visit:

→ Download the L'Étoile walk here:

3 DAYS in France's most beautiful villages

Unmissable, surprising, spectacular - there's no shortage of adjectives to describe Baume-les-Messieurs and Château-Chalon, ranked among the "Most Beautiful Villages in France". These two jewels, one nestling at the crossroads of three secluded valleys and the other built on a rocky outcrop, are just 20 minutes apart and are an invitation to explore an extraordinary natural and cultural heritage over 3 days...

Not forgetting the gastronomy and wines of the Jura, which you'll have time to enjoy in these illustrious villages (particularly the Vin Jaune at Château-Chalon), or in the neighbouring wine-producing towns, such as Poligny, the capital of Comté, Arlay, Salins-les-Bains, Voiteur, Le Vernois, Nevy-sur-Seille, Pupillin... and of course Arbois!

Vineyard walks

Enjoy the Jura in slow mode

We all know that exploring the terroir and its artisans can't be done in ten minutes and 3 selfies on Insta, so "Slow tourism" is the best way to experience the essence of the Jura vineyards.

Walking is the most obvious form of slow tourism: that's what the Balades entre les vignes du Jura collection is all about! These sheets present walks of between 3 and 6 km in different parts of the vineyards, as well as a wealth of information to help you see and understand, as you walk, how geology and man have shaped the landscapes and terroirs.

The wines you're likely to taste at the end of your walk will never taste the same again!

The great Louis Pasteur, an illustrious Jura native and father of modern oenology, once said: “There’s more philosophy in a bottle of wine than in all the books put together”... So follow his teachings and succumb to the many promises of the popular bacchic events held throughout the seasons!

LE BIOUS

Every year during the grape harvest, Arbois, Pupillin, Vadans and Montholier come alive to the rhythm of the ancestral Biou processions, a traditional event that attracts thousands of faithful and curious onlookers to each procession. The Biou is an enormous bunch of grapes made up of a multitude of bunches of red and white grape varieties, weighing between 80 and 100 kg (a representation of the mythical Canaan bunch, unique in France). It is an age-old tradition for winegrowers to offer God the first-fruits of the harvest, represented by the most beautiful bunches of grapes all gathered together.
